SHERIFF ANNOUNCEMENT

As your Sheriff and Tax Collector for the past four years and I am deeply appreciative of your electing me to this high and important office. I am very proud of my record as your Sheriff and Tax Collector, as I tried very hard to make you a good Sheriff and give you the service that you as Citizens of Hancock County, so justly deserve. During the months of December and January (Tax Collecting Time) and October (Tag purchasing time) I have kept my office open, more than the time required by law, for your convenience. I was the first Sheriff of Hancock County to set up sub-stations in each beat throughout the County to sell Automobile tags during the month of October. This service enabled car owners in various sections of the County to purchase their tags without having to travel a great number of miles and lose valuable time from their work and farms.

I am entering this race with the knowledge of the duties and responsibility of a good Circuit Clerk. I believe my experience as a City Commissioner for seven years and Sheriff and Tax Collector for the past four years the fourth and fifth of July with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maggio on Market Street. The visitors enjoyed the Coast very much and had nothing but raves for the swimming facilities. Happy birthday greetings are sent to Mr. Joseph Maggio who celebrated his birthday during the holidays.

Mr. Charles A. Soldano of Market Street was pleasantly surprised last Sunday by a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Trifoli and daughter, Pamela Ann, and Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy and their two children, of New Orleans. Mr. Joseph Maggio, a member of the New Orleans Opera and Summer Pops, and a former orchestra member of the New Orleans Symphony, was also a guest of Mr. Soldano and discovered that Mrs. Adele Kennedy possesses a beautiful voice. According to Mr. Maggio, Mrs. Kennedy is a soprano of high quality. She was able to reach the high C without effort. Mr. Maggio predicts that if Mrs. Kennedy's voice had been trained, she might now be singing at the Metropolitan.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gondolfo and their two children were also guests of Mr. Charles A. Soldano last weekend. Baby Joyceln was happy to spend the weekend on the Coast with her Godfather Mr. Soldano. Accompanying the Gondolfos to Waveland were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prince and Silvia and her friends.

MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE OF
HANCOCK COUNTY

ONLY THE LEGISLATURE CAN

FREE YOUR TOLL BRIDGES

The toll bridges at Pascagoula and Bay St. Louis should not be an issue in the Highway Commissioner's Race.

The Legislature passed Senate Bill No. 511 on March 28, 1950, requiring the State Highway Commission to build the bridges under contract immediately after the passage of the law. We were informed by people of Jackson County that a toll bridge was not made plan to one.

GAVE PEOPLE ANOTHER CHANCE

I told the people that we would wait until the Legislature came back into session in 1952, and give them the opportunity to kill the law requiring the Highway Department to build the Pascagoula Toll Bridge.

The Legislature met in 1952 and at that session they did not pass a measure to rescind the law. We then made our plans and built the bridge.

There was a provision in the law that required the Governor to appoint a trustee. Governor Fielding Wright appointed the Hancock County Bank at Bay St. Louis and the Pascagoula-Moss Point Bank at Pascagoula.

It was the duty of the trustees to make a schedule of tolls that would be sufficient to meet the payment of the interest and principal on the bonds, this to be approved by the State Highway Commission. This can only be done on July 1 of each year.

RECENT REDUCTION MADE

Recently we approved a reduction—as of July 1 of this year—in the cost of the coupon book from $5.00 to $2.00. The first city of the State of Mississippi reduction was from 25 cents to 12½ cents. The second reduction was from 12½ cents to 6 cents a crossing. The coupon books are good until all coupons are used. We were able to do this as a result of the big increase in revenue at the bridges.

We were very happy that we were able to do this, but it was strictly a business proposition. The Legislature is the only body that can free the tolls.

The Legislature, however, has not taken any action regarding the tolls. I feel the people were entitled to this reduction, consequently I am paid off by the Legislature.

Under the present law it is impossible to free the tolls. I will continue this year with a one-cent reduction.

The opposition in this race is making you a promise new that they will pass a law to free the tolls. The State of Mississippi has no authority to do this in the Legislature. I feel the people were entitled to this reduction, consequently I am paid off by the Legislature.

Under the present law it is impossible to free the tolls. I will continue this year with a one-cent reduction.

Tree Planting Program Reaches New Record

Athens, Ga., July 6—The tree planting program of the pulp and paper industry and pulpwood suppliers in Mississippi reached an all-time high during the 1955-56 period, according to an eleven-state survey conducted by the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association.

Henry J. Malberger, of Athens, Ga., general manager of the SPCA, said that 25,735,000 seedlings were planted on industry land and distributed to Mississippi landowners during the last year—an increase of nearly 2,000,000 over the 1954-55 record.

The industry gave 600,000 trees to private landowners in the state, he said.

Throughout the southern region, this industry's tree planting program accounted for more than 373,000,000 seedlings during the last year, an increase of 24,000,000 over the previous record, he continued. More than 55 percent of these trees planted, or 207,700,000, were produced by the 18 industry-operated nurseries in the region.

In pointing out the increased tree planting activity, Mr. Malberger revealed that 10 years ago the pulp and paper industry accounted for the planting of 56,000,000 trees in the South.

Private landowners in the region last season received 57,600,000 trees and during the past 10 years have received 402,700,000 seedlings from the industry, he said.

Pulp and paper companies reporting their reforestation program in Mississippi were: Bowaters Southern Paper Co., Calhoun, Tenn.; Flintkote Co., Meridian; Gaylord Container Corp., Div. of Crown Zellerbach Corp., Bogalusa, La.; International Paper Co., Moss Point and Natchez; Johns-Manville Products Corp., Natchez; Marathon Southern Corporation, Natchez, Ala.; Masonite Corp., Laurel; Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp., West Monroe, La.; St. Regis Paper Co., Pensacola, Fla.; Scott Paper Co., Southern Division, Mobile, Ala.; Tennessee River Pulp and Paper Co., Sheffield, Ala.; and Weyerhaeuser Timber Co., Columbus.

Four pulpwood suppliers accounted for 335,000 of the total industry trees and those reporting were J. M. Ash; J. B. Jones Timber Co., Mobile, Ala.; M. O. Stark, Lexington and J. R. Whitehead Timber Co., Louisville.

SPANISH MOSS

There is no more characteristic feature of the coastal plain swamps than Spanish Moss; however, it is a flowing plant and not a moss. Spanish moss attaches itself to trees but it has no roots and is not parasitic on its host tree. Food is obtained from the air. While the host known as a plant of the deep swamps, Spanish moss is found in the uplands as well. Frequently, it is placed in lawn trees as a decoration.

PROTECTION OF FORESTS FROM WILDFIRE IS IMPORTANT

Protection of our forests from wildfire is important. Wildfire is a threat to our forest lands and to the economy of our state.

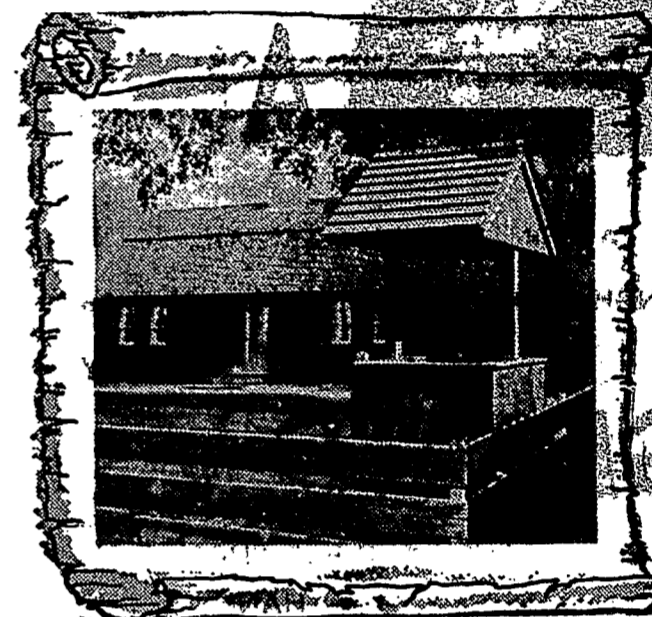

Over 12 million acres of land in Mississippi are in forests, and more than 70,000 additional acres go into forests annually. Expanding deer herds and an expanding nest lands for their existence. This same is true for the popular game animal, the squirrel. The loss of food and cover threatens the survivors of the fire.

desperate for a new song for a minstrel show in New York which was going badly. Dan had a deadline to produce a song that would pep up the show. The story is that during that period there was a common expression among people in the theatrical world who were not getting along so well. The expression was "wish I were in Dixie," which simply meant "I wish I were somewhere else besides where I am now." At that time it had no inspiration for a new song, Dan Emmett kept repeating the expression to himself, and it was because of this that the song was born. The name of the piece was "I Wish I Was in Dixie's Land." It pepped up the show and was a great success, but it was received with wild acclaim in the South. In fact at the outbreak of the Civil War it became the South's war song, its national song, its anthem and has been so associated ever since.

When Jefferson Davis was inaugurated President of the Confederacy, the band played Dixie. When President Lincoln came out of the White House to address a crowd joyous that the great civil strife was ended, the conductor of the United States Military band asked him his favorite selection. Lincoln replied "play Dixie."

"Thus, Dan Emmett gave the nation its first national song of native origin. The Star Spangled Banner, America and even Yankee Doodle were all tunes with overseas tones."

PERSONAL
There were the "self-evident" truths that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed.

There were, among the long list of abuses and usurpations charged to the King of Great Britain: "Imposing taxes on us without our Consent; depriving us of the Benefits of Trial by Jury; dissolving our Representative Houses repeatedly; for opposing manly Firmness his Invasions on the Rights of the People."

There was also the ringing final pledge of this small but valiant band representing the 13 colonies: "And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm Reliance on the Protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor."

DIXIE
We are indebted to our colleague and friend, Congressman Walter Rogers, of Texas, who writes one of the most readable weekly newsletters on Capitol Hill, for the following item, which we thought would be of particular interest:

"A Yankee friend of mine from Fredericktown, Ohio, Congressman Robert W. Levering, introduced a resolution extending congratulations to the people of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, as they commemorated the 100th anniversary of the famous song 'Dixie.' It seems that the composer of the song was one Dan Emmett of Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

"The story of the composition of Dixie is one with which I was not always familiar. It seems that Dan Emmett who is known as the father of minstrelsy in the United States for his first popular song 'Old Dan Tucker,' was
